

Word from Abbie Price at the Church Weekend Away- 27th April 2018

I am still the Lion of Judah. I have hidden myself for a time but I will reveal myself soon. I am still the God of power. The God you serve is coming in power, so you better watch out! He comes to smash expectations; blow boundaries out the water. It was for you that I climbed inside the boxes you made for me. I want to be with you so badly, but those boxes have no power over me.

This will be like when you first fell in love with me. But better. All you've gone through won't be wasted. Let me take your hands and ever so gently drag you into the new, the now, the next. A gently, weaving, bobbing, twisting dance that will end you up in new levels of freedom, power, blessing almost without you noticing. You won't need to know the steps - just let me lead.
